ALLOWANCE

Claims 1-6, 8, 10-15, and 22-29 are allowed.

I. EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

A. Authorization for examiner's amendment

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Robert Bain, Reg. No. 36,736 on 10/18/2010.

B. Amendment to the Specification

The application has been amended as follows:

In the Specification: Amend pg. 12, paragraph 0039 of the specification as follows:

The computer 130 typically has at least some form of computer readable media. Computer readable media, which include both volatile and nonvolatile media, removable and non-removable media, may be any available medium that can be accessed by computer 130. By way of example and not limitation, computer readable media comprise computer storage media and communication media. Computer storage media include volatile and nonvolatile, removable and non-removable media implemented in any method or technology for storage of information such as computer readable instructions, data structures, program modules or other data. For example, computer storage media include RAM, ROM, EEPROM, flash memory or other memory technology, CD-ROM, digital versatile disks (DVD) or other optical disk storage, magnetic cassettes, magnetic tape, magnetic disk storage or other magnetic storage devices, or any other medium that can be used to store the desired information and that can be accessed by computer 130. Communication media typically embody computer readable instructions, data structures, program modules, or other data in a modulated data signal such as a carrier wave or other transport mechanism and include any information delivery media. Those skilled in the art are familiar with the modulated data signal, which has one or more of its characteristics set or changed in such a manner as to encode information in the signal. Wired media, such as a wired network or direct-wired connection, and wireless media, such as acoustic, RF, infrared, and other wireless media, are examples of communication media. Combinations of the any of the above are also included within the scope of computer readable media. Computer storage media are distinct from and DOES NOT include communication media.

II. ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art does not teach, suggest, or render obvious, inter alia, the specific combination of a method, storage media, and system for processing a notification at a user device including determining a single fidelity measure of the user device where the measure singularly and numerically indicates the total capability of the user device to render all of the multimedia components included in the notification and where the measure has a maximum value of 1, determining a fidelity tag for each content data attribute indicating a preference order for content of data of each data attribute, and reordering the indicated preference order based on user preferences as set forth in the independent claims. While it was well known in the art to provide indicators of a device's capability to render content (see e.g., Arellano et al., U.S. Patent No. 7496630, Fig. 2 «item 74» and Egli et al., U.S. Patent Publication No. 20030110234, 0017, 0088, 0092), the prior art does not disclose or suggest reducing the indicator to a single number that represents a device's ability to render all multimedia included within the notification.

The examiner notes that independent claims 11, 26, and 29 do not recite the limitation that the measure has a maximum value of 1. However, the examiner does not believe that patentability of the other claims hinges entirely on this particular limitation. The combination of the other noted features contribute to novelty of the claims.

For the foregoing reasons, in combination with the other limitations of the independent claims, the claims are in condition for allowance.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

III. CONCLUSION

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See attached PTO-892.
